THE LABOUR BOARD IS SEEKING MEMBERS WITH CONSTRUCTION EXPERIENCE

The Labour Board is seeking new labour and management members with construction experience.

Most Trade Union Act (“TUA”) matters require a full panel (chair, labour representative, and management representative) under Part II of the TUA. Experienced members bring a valued perspective to Board matters and thus it is essential that the Board has a roster of members with experience in the construction industry. Construction industry experience may be gained in many contexts, including the collective bargaining process on either the labour or management side; executive experience in the construction industry; or experience in a senior position with a construction union or trades council. The Board provides an orientation to all new members to familiarize them with the Board’s processes.

The Labour Board encourages applications from all Nova Scotians and welcomes applications from aboriginal people, African Nova Scotians, racially visible people, persons with disabilities, women, and other employment equity groups.

The deadline to apply is May 29, 2017. The ABC Spring 2017 bulk advertisement and application process is available at www.novascotia.ca/abc.

If you have any questions about what is involved with being a member of the Labour Board, please contact: Diana Hartley, Chief Administrator, by email: labourboard@novascotia.ca or by phone at: 902-424-6730 or 1-877-424-6730 (toll free).

Please share this message with any of your experienced contacts who may be interested in serving on the Labour Board of Nova Scotia.
